

STATEMENT OF DISCLAIMER (Glazed, Brush-stroked and Distressed Finishes)

TruFinish Woodworx is pleased you have chosen our company for your custom finished cabinets. Please read and acknowledge the following statement regarding the artistic and unique appearance of our glazed and distressed products before you place your order.

Our finished sample is a close color representation of what an overall kitchen will look like and is not meant to match every door or cabinet. The artistic nature of the hand-applied finish, along with the unique qualities of natural or manufactured wood, can create an unbalanced or inconsistent look.

Our custom hand finishes are crafted to mimic the wear and aging of actual furniture antiques by highlighting the effects of random wear and use. In the process of distressing, glazing and brush-stroking a conscious effort is made to maintain a uniform appearance. However, it is important to understand that no single piece can be exactly duplicated by these inherently craft processes. Glazed finishes will have some variations in glazing residue as a natural part of the process and hand rubbing.

The differences in the final look from door to door are part of the design and the art of the hand-glazing process, combined with the differences created by the natural characteristics of wood. These differences should be expected.

Glazed, brush-stroke and distressed finishes derive their beauty from the overall look of the cabinetry from a distance within the room. The result is a beautiful handcrafted effect and a one-of-a-kind appearance.
